

Sleep Research Career Pathways in Federal Agencies: A Panel Discussion

This webinar series features the different career pathways of diverse and successful sleep researchers in the sleep science enterprise. This quarter's webinar exposes early career investigators, trainees and students to different sleep research leadership positions in federal agencies.

1. Panelists will share their research pathway story into federal agencies.
2. Panelists will share tips for choosing a non-traditional sleep research career.
3. Panelists will describe how sleep researchers serving as leaders in federal agencies play into the bigger picture of promoting discoveries that advance the understanding of sleep for healthier lives.
